MESSAGE FROM THE CEO

Dear Valued Client

We are pleased to share with you the Investment-Linked Policy Sub-Funds Semi-Annual Report which aims to keep you informed about the performance of our wide range of Investment-Linked Policy Sub-Funds ("ILP Sub-Funds").

The first half of 2026 saw global financial markets experience heightened geopolitical uncertainty, persistent inflationary pressures, and renewed volatility in energy prices. Despite these headwinds, risk assets were supported by resilient economic activity and continued investor optimism around artificial intelligence and technology-related investment. The IMF World Economic Outlook Update (July 2026) projected global growth at 3.0 percent in 2026 and 3.4 percent in 2027, noting that growth remains uneven as artificial intelligence-driven demand offsets part of the drag from war-related uncertainty.

U.S. stock markets advanced during the first half of 2026 as resilient economic growth, strong corporate earnings and sustained momentum in artificial intelligence-related investment outweighed concerns surrounding geopolitical tensions and inflation. The Federal Reserve kept its benchmark rate unchanged at the 3.50 to 3.75 percent range during the period, reflecting a cautious approach amid persistent inflationary pressures and a resilient labour market. In Europe, the European Central Bank raised its deposit facility rate to 2.25 percent in June 2026 in response to inflationary pressures linked to higher energy prices.

Asian markets diverged in performance during the first half of 2026. China's economy slowed to 4.3 percent year-on-year growth in the second quarter from 5.0 percent in the first quarter, as weak household consumption and investment offset stronger manufacturing and exports. South Korea emerged as a key beneficiary of the artificial intelligence and semiconductor rally as the KOSPI index more than doubled in the first half of 2026, driven primarily by semiconductor and information technology stocks. By contrast, Hong Kong and China stock markets lagged regional peers as major Chinese technology stocks underperformed.

Domestically, Singapore's economy remained resilient in the first half of 2026. Based on data released by the Ministry of Trade and Industry, Singapore's economy grew by 5.9 percent year-on-year in the second quarter, easing from 6.3 percent in the first quarter. The manufacturing sector expanded strongly by 12.5 percent year-on-year, driven mainly by strong AI-related demand for semiconductors and semiconductor manufacturing equipment.

MESSAGE FROM THE CEO

As we progress through 2026, global growth is expected to remain steady but uneven. The outlook remains mixed, with geopolitical tensions and higher energy prices posing headwinds, while continued artificial intelligence-related investment supports global growth. Monetary policy is expected to remain a key focus for investors, with the policy outlook for the U.S. Federal Reserve and the European Central Bank closely monitored amid evolving inflation and growth dynamics. Investors should also remain mindful of risks arising from geopolitical developments, energy price volatility, and renewed market uncertainty.

In Asia, the outlook remains mixed. China is expected to continue facing structural headwinds from weak domestic demand, subdued investment, and the prolonged property downturn, although resilient exports and manufacturing activity have provided some support. Technology-led markets such as South Korea are likely to remain supported by artificial intelligence and semiconductor demand, but the strong rally in the first half of the year may leave these markets more susceptible to bouts of profit-taking and valuation-driven volatility.

In Singapore, growth is expected to remain supported by artificial intelligence-related manufacturing and trade-related activity, with full-year GDP growth for 2026 projected at 4.5 to 5.5 percent. However, given Singapore's open economy, energy price volatility and uncertainty in global demand may weigh on trade-related and externally oriented sectors in the second half of the year.

We hope you will continue to take advantage of our suite of ILP Sub-Funds, which offer a diverse range of investment strategies tailored to match your risk appetite and help you achieve your financial objectives.

At Tokio Marine, we remain committed to supporting your investment journey in the years to come. Thank you for placing your investment needs with us.
